FACED A BIG AUDIENCE

JACK COOKE, THE BOY PREACHER, ANSWERS BIBLE QUESTIONS.

As Usual, the Text Was Selected by Vote of the Audience-Character of Sermon.

Jack Cooke, the boy preacher, addressed a much larger audience in Meridian-street Monday night. As stated by the youthful pulpit orator in conversation after the Mine Workers' Journal, arrived yesterservice, his coming to this city was so sudgen and comparatively unadvertised that the people were scarcely aware he was in the city. The boy's brother, Haydn Cooke (named for the great composer), took more of a part in the meeting than did Jack. Haydn Cooke is a youthful-appearing person himself. His great shock of yellow hair and peculiar eyes, coupled with his florid complexion, give him much the appearance of an albino. Jack is a decide! brunette. The elder brother delivered a forcible exhortation and the younger conducted a "question box" prior to the delivery of the sermon. One of the quessomebody in the audience was, "Did the atonement of Christ place the human race in the same position that it occupied before the fall of Adam?" "No," answered Jack, "it did not, for this reason: Before the fall of Adam there was no sin at all in the world and all was a paradise, but at the time of the atonement of Christ wickedness was practically the same and it did not make any difference, only we were saved from it.'

"If one part of the Bible were incorrect," he said, "who is to judge whether the others are not?" He stated his belief that the same miracles that were performed in Bible times are performed

In accordance with the boy preacher's custom, his brother requested the audierce to select four texts upon which a vote would be taken to determine which | Hook, but only between the hours of 10 would be the basis of the sermon. The following texts were named: Matthew xii. 21; John iii, 16; John iv, 18; Acts ii, 26. The first text represented about three-fourths of the vote represented; the second and third were moderate favorites only, while the verse from Acts found favor in the sight of a solitary member of the congregation. The text from which the sermon was preached, Matthew xil, 21, reads as "Wherefore I say unto you, all manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men, but the blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men." Adopting the safe line of orthodox thought, the juvenile preacher rtated and amplified the idea that the sin against the Holy Ghost is the sin of hardening one's heart against "the voice of the Spirit calling upon the individual to accept the atonement of Christ." The discourse was about twenty minutes in length, and suggested familiarity with books of sermons and works on theology, yer has won his race across the Atlantic. although the lad and his brother vigorously deny that he has ever read a single volume of the kind. Roubaix, France, "Major" Taylor, the American short distance cycle champion, scored a signal victory over a big field of European cracks. In an international open kilometer race (about 1,093 yards), held at Roubaix the colored wonder finin the event, including Grogna, the Belgian champion, who finished second. A rider named Dangla was third. The significance of the victory lies in the fact that Grogna has twice won the Grand Prix of Roubaix, in 1899 defeating Tommaselli, the Italian evening to Mayor Harrison. He called champion, and last year Jacquelin, the upon the mayor to-day and asked him French champion and greatest of all Euro-
